Narrative

The mission statement of Albany State University states in part “The primary mission of Albany State University is to educate students to become outstanding contributors to society ... The University advocates the total development of students, especially the under served ...” [1] The admission policy of Albany State University is to accept applicants who show a reasonable probability for success by completing requirements for a degree. [2] General and specific admissions requirements are published in the undergraduate and graduate catalogs. [3], [4] All of the university’s admissions policies and procedures are governed by the University System of Georgia Board of Regents [5].

The University’s Admission’s policy can also be found on Albany State University’s website [6].
